

00:49:46      Lovely and informative! Thank you!

00:50:44      Emily, Thank you so very much for answering the call to study these women and to share the truth with all of us. FutureChurch, thank you for your commitment to sharing women's stories and making them visible! May God continue to flourish your work!

00:51:27      Was there a change once the Louisiana purchase Americans took control of New Orleans? May be after your period.

00:56:15      So informative thank you

00:58:18      so Henriette was part of the quadroon ball scenario? many black women I have heard from say no, NO!

01:02:08      Such an informative presentation. I found the story of the baptismal record that the parish priest tried to "doctor" such a remarkable example of racism. Delighted that the father rectified the egregious deliberate error.

01:02:25      Thank you for helping me confirm my history with the rosary, Henriette's history lives on through the women who became nuns in her order and those of us who attend her all girls Catholic school.

01:03:24      Will there in the future be a presentation about the Holy Family Sisters? There are to my knowledge only two communities that accepted women of color, the other being the Oblate Sisters of Providence in Baltimore, Maryland

01:04:32      the Boubon Orleans on 717 Orleans St. was the school and several of my class mates were boarders

01:09:04      I'm from nola, we have such an interesting, painful history...we, natives do not know this history. we equate Black Africans Africa and anyone with a drop of grouped therein with Caribbeans, etc. this is such an expansive history, and it pains me that we here don't know our vast history...I am a religious and wish we religious in the city knew this. I hope to have more of us hear this message. thank you! what a legacy our early "founders of faith" here in NOLA. that you so much!

01:12:47      Thank you for your example

01:13:17      will the comments be recorded as well? I hopes so!

01:14:57      Thank you, this is very helpful.

01:15:16 This was a wonderful presentation. Thank you!

01:15:21 Excellent presentation. Thank you..

01:15:21 Wonderful presentation, Q&A, etc. - THANK YOU!

01:15:26 Unbelievable story! I did not know anything about this history... I will pursue

01:15:28 can we use this to inform others?

01:15:29 Thank you. Incredible presentation!!!

01:15:50 Marvelous presentation!! Thank you!!

01:16:08 Thank you very informative presentation

01:16:12 Please write name of book

01:16:26 tell me the name of the book???

01:16:28 The Strange History of the American Quadroon

01:16:29 A wonderful hour of History and Women of Color in New Orleans. Thank you all.

01:16:35 Thank you so much... What a blessing.

01:16:44 Thank you ever so much.

01:17:23 What an amazing presentation! As a New Orleanian, and a former tour guide here in the city, I have learned so much tonight! Thank you!
